How to prepare an article

To prepare your article, please follow the order:

1. Title and subtitle;
2. Author(s) and Affiliation(s): Name Surname, University, Department, email. In case of multiple authors, provide only the email of the corresponding one;
3. Abstract: maximum 500 characters, spaces included;
4. Keywords: maximum 5, separated by a comma;
5. Text, in the chosen language, max 15.000 characters, spaces and references included;
6. Cover figure: 1 image for the paper cover (300 dpi, minimum with 14 cm) as separate file (.jpg file, with the following file name: "surname-name_cover.jpg");
7. Paper figures: maximum 3 images (300 dpi, minimum width 9 cm), as separate files (.jpg files, with the following file name: "surname-name_cover.jpg"; "surname-name_image1.jpg"; "surname-name_image2.jpg"; etc.);
8. Captions: one for each figure, following the structure:
Author, Title (italic), Year, Technique (as appropriate), Dimensions (as appropriate), Place (as appropriate). Image source. Any comment.
Image source specification:
If website: Retrieved April, 22, 2022 from <url>
If book: (Author, year, page number, table number)
Please enter the caption in the text where you would like the related image to be placed. If necessary, cite the publishing permission.
9. Acknowledgements and Declaration of interest statement (as appropriate);
10. References (according to APA style, see the instructions below);
11. Blind review document: .doc or .docx format, containing all cited materials and in which the name of the author(s) and any identifying information must be removed.

IN-TEXT CITATIONS

In-text citations are used to show where you retrieved the information that you are using to make specific arguments in your writing. Follow the author-date method of in-text citation: (Jones, 1998). All sources cited in the text must appear in the reference list at the end of the paper.

Integrated Citations

A work that is directly referenced within the text by the author's, or multiple authors', name is called an integrated citation. When this happens, cite the source by placing the year of publication in parentheses following the author's name.

The work of Jones (1998) has been used ...

Jones and Collymore (1994) showed ...

Jones et al. (2003) discuss ...

Jones (1998), Jones and Collymore (1994), and Jones et al. (2003) discuss ...

Parenthetical Citations

If the work is not directly referenced in the text but still needs to be cited, the citation will be moved to the end of the sentence, and the author's name will be included along with the publication year.

(Churchill, 1943)

Paraphrasing Materials

When using information from one of your sources but not directly quoting text from that work, this is paraphrasing. When paraphrasing a source's work, you must cite their work by listing their name and the year of publication where the information is used.

Although the APA style can seem difficult, it often is very easy to use once it has been practised (Jones, 1998).

While a page number is not required for paraphrased material, it is often preferred since this can help your readers find the exact source of information. The page, or range of pages, where the information is found is identified by a "p." for a single page or "pp." for multiple pages.

Although the APA style can seem difficult, it often is very easy to use once it has been practised (Jones, 1998, pp. 24-32).

Citation in note and caption

When a reference is cited in the note and/or in the caption, since it is already reported in full in the "references" or in the "additional readings", just put the abbreviated reference.

(Churchill, 1943)

(Churchill, 1943, p.58)

Quotations

If you are directly quoting from a work, you will need to include the author, year of publication, and the page number for the reference (preceded by "p."). Introduce the quotation with a signal phrase that includes the author's last name followed by the date of publication in parentheses, as in an integrated citation.

According to Jones (1998), "Students often had difficulty using APA style, especially when it was their first time" (p. 199).

She stated, "Students often had difficulty using APA style" (Jones, 1998, p. 199), but she did not offer an explanation as to why.

When your parenthetical citation includes two or more works, order them the same way they appear in the reference list, separated by a semi-colon.

(Berndt, 2002; Harlow, 1983)

If multiple works by the same author or authors are cited simultaneously, use commas between the publication years, again listing the sources in the same order that they appear in the reference list.

(Berndt, 2002, 2004)

If you have two sources by the same author in the same year, use lower-case letters (a, b, c) with the year to order the entries in the reference list. Use the lower-case letters with the year in the in-text citation.

Research has shown (Allen, 2013a) that ...

REFERENCES

Unlike in-text citations, reference citations include additional details beyond author and date. Each reference citation is made up of four parts: Author, Date, Title, and Publication Data. This information will be listed at the end of your article under the subtitle "References".
